THE CLASS OF 2026

Shanna Fritz '04

Shanna Fritz '04 established herself as one of the most accomplished players in Bloomsburg University field hockey history, helping lead the Huskies through one of the most dominant eras in program history. A three-time All-American and two-time national champion, Fritz combined offensive production, consistency and championship leadership throughout her four-year career.

Fritz earned National Field Hockey Coaches Association (NFHCA) First Team All-America honors in three consecutive seasons from 2001-03, establishing herself among the nation's elite players. She also received First Team All-Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference (PSAC) recognition in each of those seasons, reflecting her sustained excellence against the conference's top competition.

A dynamic offensive threat, Fritz finished her career ranked among Bloomsburg's all-time leaders in several statistical categories. She ranks seventh in program history with 51 career goals, sixth with 28 assists, and sixth with 130 points. Her ability to finish scoring opportunities while creating chances for teammates made her one of the Huskies' most versatile offensive performers.

Fritz's individual achievements were matched by extraordinary team success. During her career, Bloomsburg compiled a remarkable 73-8 overall record, captured two NCAA Division II National Championships, and won two PSAC titles. The Huskies' historic 2002 campaign featured a perfect 21-0 record, further solidifying the program's reputation as a national powerhouse.

Throughout her career, Fritz played an integral role in maintaining the championship standard established within Bloomsburg field hockey. Her offensive contributions, competitive determination and ability to perform against elite competition helped sustain the Huskies' dominance on both the conference and national stages.

As a three-time First Team All-American, two-time national champion, and one of the program's career scoring leaders, Fritz left a lasting legacy of excellence that remains part of Bloomsburg field hockey's championship tradition.

Denise Henderson '84

Denise Henderson '84 played a foundational role in one of the most successful periods in Bloomsburg University softball history, serving as the Huskies' starting catcher for four seasons and helping guide the program to national championship success. During her career, Bloomsburg compiled an extraordinary 114-17 overall record and established itself among the nation's premier collegiate softball programs.

A dependable defensive leader behind the plate, Henderson was instrumental in directing one of the most dominant pitching staffs in program history. She caught the majority of games for standout pitcher Tina Souders, whose remarkable career included a nation-leading 0.25 ERA in 1982 and a career ERA of 0.34, one of the lowest marks in NCAA Division II history.

Henderson's ability to manage pitchers, call games, and control opposing offenses provided stability at one of softball's most demanding positions. Her individual excellence earned national recognition in 1982, when she was selected as a softball All-American.

Her contributions were especially significant during the Huskies' historic 1982 season, when Bloomsburg captured the AIAW Division III National Championship. Henderson served as the starting catcher for that championship team, helping deliver one of the most defining achievements in program history.

She also helped guide Bloomsburg to NCAA Division II East Regional appearances in 1983 and 1984, with the Huskies finishing as regional runners-up in both seasons. Her leadership and consistency were instrumental in sustaining the program's postseason success.

Following her playing career, Henderson remained involved in developing future student-athletes, serving as an instructor and coach at Bloomsburg's summer softball camps, where she specialized in teaching catching fundamentals.

An All-American, national champion, and four-year starter, Henderson helped establish the competitive foundation of Bloomsburg softball through outstanding defensive leadership, durability, and an unwavering commitment to team success.

Tom McGuire

Tom McGuire devoted nearly two decades to promoting Bloomsburg University Athletics, serving as sports information director from 1997-2016 and helping elevate the visibility of the Huskies during one of the most successful periods in department history. During his tenure, Bloomsburg captured nine NCAA National Championships and 36 Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference titles.

Overseeing publicity for 20 varsity programs, McGuire modernized Bloomsburg's athletic communications operation through website development, expanded multimedia coverage, and comprehensive promotional efforts. In 2005, he added athletic marketing and promotions responsibilities, increasing annual corporate sponsorship revenue from $7,500 to nearly $75,000, and generating approximately $600,000 in scholarship support through partnerships. He also spearheaded the creation of Bloomsburg's beloved mascot, Roongo.

McGuire promoted some of the university's most celebrated athletic achievements, including Franklyn Quiteh's 2013 Harlon Hill Trophy victory, Jamar Brittingham's national recognition, and Jahri Evans' candidacy for the Gene Upshaw Award. His storytelling helped secure national exposure through CBS Sports, Sports Illustrated, and USA Today.

He also championed academic achievement, promoting 15 College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-Americans and 24 PSAC Top 10 honorees. His work extended to hosting numerous conference and NCAA championship events, including three NCAA Division II Field Hockey Championships.

McGuire received the 2014 Irving T. Marsh Award, a College Sports Information Directors of America 25-Year Service Award and the organization's prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award in 2017.

Equally significant was his mentorship of nearly 50 student assistants, interns, and graduate assistants who pursued careers in sports communications, marketing and journalism.

After transitioning to university media relations, McGuire retired in 2023 as Commonwealth University's senior director of strategic communications. His legacy encompasses national recognition, institutional growth, and generations of communications professionals whose careers began under his guidance.

Eric Miller '00

Eric Miller '00 authored one of the most prolific quarterback careers in Bloomsburg University football history, leading the Huskies to conference championships and an appearance in the 2000 NCAA Division II National Championship Game. A four-year starting quarterback, Miller helped establish Bloomsburg as a national powerhouse while rewriting the program's passing record book.

After redshirting in 1996, Miller assumed the starting role in 1997 and directed an offense that helped Bloomsburg compile a 42-17 record during his time with the program. The Huskies captured PSAC championships in 1996, 1997, and 2000, culminating in an unforgettable postseason run during his senior season.

Miller remains Bloomsburg's career leader in touchdown passes (70) and passing yards per game (241.1). He also holds program records for season completion percentage (63.3%), touchdown passes in a season (39) and touchdown passes in a game (five, accomplished twice). He ranks among the program's top three in career passing yards (7,474), completions (527), and attempts (915).

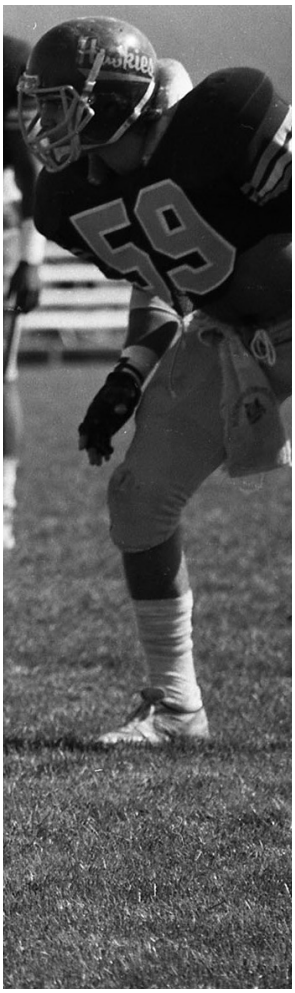
His senior campaign in 2000 ranks among the greatest individual seasons in school history. After an 0-2 start, Miller led Bloomsburg to 12 consecutive victories, a perfect 6-0 PSAC record, and the National Championship game.

During the NCAA playoffs, Miller established an Division II postseason record with 17 touchdown passes and threw for 1,237 yards. His signature performance came in the national semifinals against UC Davis, when he passed for 385 yards and five touchdowns, engineering a remarkable fourth-quarter comeback in a 58-48 victory.

Miller finished his collegiate career by accounting for four touchdowns against Delta State in the National Championship game.

His record-setting production, leadership, and remarkable postseason performances helped define a golden era of Bloomsburg football and cemented his place among the greatest quarterbacks in program history.

Steph Pettit '89/H'19



Steph Pettit '89/H'19 has made an extraordinary impact on Bloomsburg University Athletics, transforming his passion for the Huskies into a legacy of philanthropy, leadership, and opportunity. A former Bloomsburg football student-athlete, Pettit has become one of the university's most influential benefactors, helping shape the future of athletic programs, and the student-athlete experience.

Pettit's connection to Bloomsburg began during his undergraduate years, when he competed for the Huskies football program alongside future Hall of Famer and head coach Frank Sheptock. His experiences as a student-athlete established a lifelong appreciation for teamwork, dedication, and the opportunities provided through collegiate athletics.

Following his graduation in 1989, Pettit built a successful professional career through entrepreneurship and strategic leadership. He carried that same vision into his commitment to Bloomsburg, supporting initiatives that strengthen athletic facilities, enhancing scholarship opportunities, and improving the competitive experience for generations of Huskies.

His transformational contributions are reflected throughout the university's athletic infrastructure, most visibly at the Pettit Athletic Complex and Steph Pettit Stadium. These facilities provide modern environments for training, competition, and community engagement while reinforcing Bloomsburg's commitment to excellence.

Alongside his wife, Allie, Pettit H'25 has contributed approximately $23 million to the university, establishing the couple among Bloomsburg's most significant benefactors. Their generosity extends beyond athletics to academic programs, the arts, and other campus initiatives that enrich the broader university community.

In recognition of his extraordinary contributions, Pettit received an honorary doctorate from Bloomsburg University in 2019.

From his beginnings as a Huskies football player to his transformational role as a university benefactor, Pettit has demonstrated an unwavering commitment to Bloomsburg. His legacy extends far beyond buildings and financial contributions, creating opportunities for student-athletes and strengthening the institution for generations to come.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU TO THE BLOOMSBURG ALUMNI ASSOCIATION FOR ITS SUPPORT OF TODAY'S BANQUET.
ALSO, SPECIAL THANKS TO ARAMARK FOR TODAY'S LUNCH.

Kelly (Reimert) DiMarco '84

Kelly Reimert '84 established herself among the most accomplished relay swimmers in Bloomsburg University women's swimming history, earning eight All-American honors and helping elevate the Huskies to national prominence during her career from 1980-84. Her championship performances, consistency, and contributions to record-setting relay teams helped define a successful era for the program.

Reimert was a cornerstone of Bloomsburg's relay success, earning eight All-America selections across three seasons while competing against elite national competition in the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) Division III and NCAA Division II.

Her achievements included national championship performances in relay competition, establishing her among the country's top collegiate swimmers and helping showcase Bloomsburg's strength on the national stage.

At the conference level, Reimert was equally accomplished. During the 1981-82 season, she captured two PSAC championships as a member of the Huskies' winning 200-yard freestyle relay and 800-yard freestyle relay teams.

Throughout her collegiate career, Reimert recorded 11 top-three finishes at the PSAC Championships, demonstrating her consistency and ability to deliver strong performances in championship competition.

Her contributions also left a lasting mark on the Bloomsburg record book. At the time of her graduation, Reimert held three school records, with two remaining intact years later. Most notably, the 200-yard medley relay record she helped establish in 1983 stood until 1996, an impressive 13-year stretch.

Despite battling a shoulder injury that limited her senior season, Reimert's accomplishments reflected remarkable dedication and competitive determination.

An eight-time All-American, two-time PSAC champion, and multiple-time school record-holder, Reimert helped establish a tradition of relay excellence within Bloomsburg women's swimming. Her achievements remain an important part of the program's history and its longstanding reputation for success in conference and national championship competition.

Brad Rozanski '96

Brad Rozanski '96 established himself among the premier wrestlers in Bloomsburg University history, earning NCAA Division I All-America honors, and capturing multiple conference championships during a distinguished four-year career. His success against the nation's top competition helped strengthen the Huskies' reputation as one of the region's leading wrestling programs.

A four-year varsity letterwinner, Rozanski emerged as a national contender during the 1992-93 season, capturing the Eastern Wrestling League (EWL) championship, and qualifying for the NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships.

At the national tournament, Rozanski finished eighth in his weight class to earn All-America recognition, one of the highest individual achievements in collegiate wrestling. His performance placed him among the nation's elite and established him as one of Bloomsburg's most accomplished competitors.

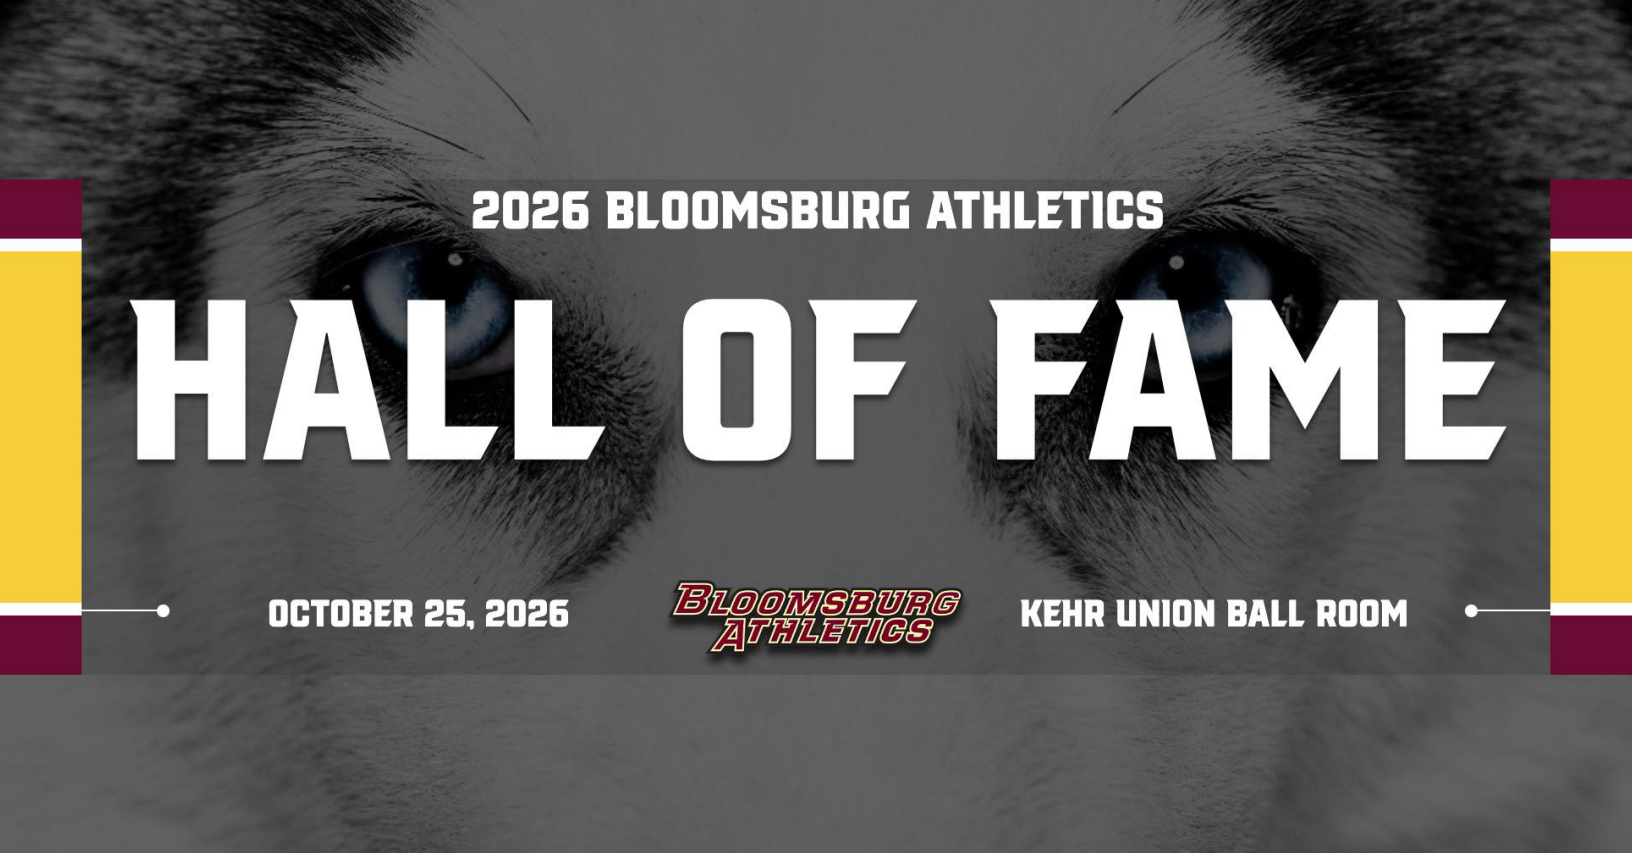
Rozanski continued his success during the 1993-94 campaign, winning individual championships at both the Bloomsburg University Invitational and the Lehigh Sheridan Tournament. Those performances reinforced his standing among the region's top wrestlers.

His outstanding 1994-95 season featured another Bloomsburg Invitational title along with championships at both the PSAC and EWL tournaments. His second EWL championship secured another appearance at the NCAA Division I Championships, demonstrating his sustained success at the highest collegiate level.

Rozanski's accomplishments also earned recognition beyond collegiate competition. In 1993, he received an invitation to the USA World Cup Training Camp in Toledo, Ohio. He was additionally selected to compete with an All-American team that traveled to Europe for the Trophy Malone competition, facing international opponents with Olympic-level experience. Throughout his career, Rozanski demonstrated the technical ability, competitive toughness and consistency necessary to excel against elite competition.

An NCAA Division I All-American, two-time EWL champion, PSAC champion, and multiple-time national qualifier, Rozanski left an enduring mark on Bloomsburg wrestling and helped carry the Huskies' tradition of national excellence into the 1990s.

BLOOMSBURG HUSKIES™



HONORING THE GREATS

Today, the Bloomsburg Athletic Hall of Fame grows to 225 members with this afternoon's induction of seven individuals. The Athletic Hall of Fame was initiated in 1982 to honor athletes, coaches, and other people responsible for helping the university's athletic program establish itself as a regional and national leader in intercollegiate athletics. The program has reached a status that has made it a model for other athletic programs throughout the country to emulate in terms of philosophy and success. This year's group honors the 44th class to be inducted into this prestiguous Hall of Fame and the seven individuals truly exemplify what it means to be a Husky - through their grit, determination, and hustle.

The seven inductees fit the Hall of Fame Committee's charge perfectly as they represent the best aspects of Bloomsburg athletics. This year's inductees have shown themselves to be standouts while student-athletes, coaches, and/or administrators. There are many more deserving people who should be honored by induction into the Hall. Nominations are now being sought for future induction ceremonies and may come from any source. The nominees' names, along with ample information and biographical data, should be submitted to the Hall of Fame Committee via this weblink - https://bloomsburgathletics.com/HOFNominations

The candidate must have participated in at least two full seasons of intercollegiate competition at Bloomsburg. A person may only be inducted 10 years after receiving his or her bachelor's degree from Bloomsburg or another accredited institution and may not be inducted without a degree unless a majority vote by the Hall of Fame Committee determines that person did not graduate due to extenuating circumstances. Nominations may include Bloomsburg alumni who have made outstanding contributions or offered extraordinary service to athletics at Bloomsburg while an undergraduate or after graduation. Nominations may also include coaches, or other athletic department personnel, who have made outstanding contributions or offered extraordinary service to Bloomsburg athletics.

Persons may be nominated who attended Bloomsburg, did not play or coach, or had very limited athletic careers but went on to achieve success in athletics as a coach at another institution, as a coach or player in professional sports, or as an administrator in college or professional athletics.

All nominations should be submitted in writing no later than January 9, 2027, to Mary Raskob, Director of Athletic Communications and Marketing, Bloomsburg, 400 E. Second St., Bloomsburg, PA 17815-1301
or via e-mail at mraskob@bloomu.edu

A nomination can also be submitted online by visiting www.bloomsburgathletics.com, clicking on Traditions, and then clicking on the Hall of Fame Nomination Form link.
